R.C Reading Comprehension

Read the following passage, then choose the correct answer:-

It is commonly believed that anyone may become ill as a result of stress if they experience a lot of worry. Stress can be a friend or an enemy. It can warn you that you are under too much pressure and should change your way of life. It can kill you if you don't notice the warning signals.

When we are very frightened and worried, our bodies produce certain chemicals to help us fight what troubling us. These produce the energy needed to run away fast from an object of fear. If we don't use up these chemicals or

Among the most oft-repeated words in our daily lives are 'thank you' and 'welcome'. However, mechanical repetition of these words has robbed it of its essence—the heartfelt gratitude that the words seek to express. True thanksgiving goes deeper than mere words. It arises out of appreciation and gratitude—sometimes even for the gift of life out of a sense of wonder and humility, acknowledgement and submission.

Most of us can narrate a number of incidents when these words are uttered distantly and impassively. But very few would be able to recount even a single incident in the recent past when warm and heartfelt gratitude was either given or received. These golden words seem to have lost their true purpose and meaning in the hurly-burly of our busy schedules, leaving us with little time to think deeply or even from the heart.

Gratitude is more than just another emotion or expression of humility. It is an attitude, a way of life, even a gateway to a happy, positive and reassured life. Incredible as it might seem, this simple emotion has the potential to release positive forces like love, hope, compassion, humility, joy, reassurance and faith in an individual's life. In the material world, gratitude is like a smile. If sincere, it transmits immense joy to both the giver and receiver. A heartfelt 'thank you' can introduce joy and happiness even in those domains where there is a very practical exchange of money and services.

Choose the correct answer from a, b, c or d:-
